

About Us

Our new location.... ready to serve you better, we have created an awning exhibition, not just a showroom.. you are invited to visit.

WOW! How things have changed in just a few years...

This industry has some amazingly innovative ideas. As such, we have an extensive Research & Development Program. We visit local and international trade shows & product launches. We design in-house systems and are constantly working on new components and materials.

The future is reserved for the engineers, designers and architects who also have a passion for ultimate sun & climate control, for the people who want to make existing items even better. As soon as an item is tested, proven to be beneficial and will improve a situation, we will bring it into the present.
